

LOVE & HATE & $\infty - (\infty - 1) \neq 0$, when Lim: $\infty - 1 = \infty$

When you love someone with true feelings, each of you will feel mutual trustable feelings

When you love someone with FAKE feelings, each one will feel mutual inexcusable feelings

It's up to you and you only, whether you want to see Love or Hate in this world amongst each one

What are you seeking for love you may see love in each one and may teach same to each one?

When you want someone, who loves with true love and in return all feel truthful towards each one

Let's there be true love amongst all, let there be no hate towards who are different than us each one.

God Loves to Love and Devil loves to Hate!

You can give only what you have in abundance, could be confidence, love or hate or else

It is guaranteed eventually one will receive multitude of same that could be love or hate or else

It has been seen over and over again, that love makes you mature more gloriously

It has been seen over and over again, that hate makes you mature with irreparable 'dents' that impact you always negatively

No matter how positive attitude one may have some will turn into dangerous & self-ruining beings, and affecting oneself and all harmfully

God Loves to Love and Devil loves Hate

Love will produce more impacts on one's mind that will have perspective about life that there is plentiful

Love will produce more impacts on one's mind that will have an effect of good actions' multiplications

Hate will produce more impacts on one's life that will have fewer positive additions, and much more subtractions

God is not under any pressure, The one favored by God does not fear devil and is always and absolutely right

Devil is under pressure and is controlled by physical world and is not always absolutely right.

When Godly acts or God is in Charge, you can be rest assured, eventually everything will turn out alright.

God Loves to Love and Devil loves Hate; God is spiritual and devil is all physical Godly ones follow their inner voice (intuition), Devilish follow their corruptible minds by ignoring their inner voice, which is spiritual!

$\infty - \infty \neq 0$, Infinity defies all your math logics

